Man arrested after series of attacks on churches in Rome

Shocking video of a Ghanaian furiously destroying religious statues in a church in Rome <http://bit.ly/2evhToo>

Intolerance against Christians (01.10.2017) - <http://bit.ly/2evga2t> - Police arrested a 39-year-old Ghanaian man (1) suspected of attacking several churches in Rome over the previous two days. He is suspected of heavily damaging devotional statues, crucifixes, and candlesticks at the Basilica of Santa Prassede, the Church of San Martino ai Monti, and the Basilicas of San Giovanni de' Fiorentini and San Vitale.

According to reports, on the evening of September 30th, a man damaged a statue in the church of San Martino ai Monti and fled. Shortly afterwards, the same person entered the Basilica of Santa Prassede and "smash[ed] everything he found, especially statues and candlesticks, right before a group of parishioners who were quite scared. The two devotional statues of Saint Anthony of Padua and Saint Prassede were heavily damaged."

The rector of the church said that there were about 15 worshippers present and, after a moment of shock, they chased after the perpetrator before he could enter the sanctuary to destroy the crucifix.

Later, he is alleged to have entered the Church of San Martino ai Monti, where he smashed a devotional statue of the Madonna and Child.

On the morning of October 1st, two further attacks occurred in the Basilicas of San Giovanni de' Fiorentini and San Vitale. Statues, candlesticks, crucifixes were smashed. According to a witness, "the perpetrator at this time had time to admit that it was not right that we worshipped in this way."

After receiving descriptions of the perpetrator from priests and witnesses, police arrested a 39-year-old Ghanaian. His motives are under investigation. (2)

HRWF Footnotes

(1) The total population of Ghana is about 26-27 million. Approximately 71 percent is Christian, 18 percent is Muslim, 5 percent adheres to indigenous religious beliefs, and 6 percent identifies as belonging to other religious groups or having no religious beliefs. Other religious groups include the Bahai Faith, Buddhism, Judaism, Hinduism, Shintoism, Eckankar, and Rastafarianism.

Christian denominations include Roman Catholic, Methodist, Anglican, Mennonite, Evangelical Presbyterian, African Methodist Episcopal Zionist, Christian Methodist, Evangelical Lutheran, Eden Revival Church International, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon), Seventh-day Adventist, Pentecostal, Baptist, African independent churches, the Society of Friends (Quaker), and numerous charismatic religious groups.

Islamic traditions include Sunni, Ahmadiyya, the Tijaniyah and Qadiriyya orders of Sufism, and a small number of Shia.

(2) This incident was largely covered in Spanish-speaking countries but not in the French-speaking press. The name and the motivation of the suspect were not revealed in the media. The case has apparently not been further investigated by journalists and has remained out of the radar of NGOs monitoring religiously motivated hate crimes.

Statement of the European Federation for Freedom of Belief (FOB) at the OSCE/ODIHR Human Dimension Implementation Meeting

FOB (27.09.2016) - <https://freedomofbelief.net/activities/osce-2016-statement-european-federation-freedom-belief> - I am Alessandro Amicarelli a London based lawyer specializing in human rights and freedom of belief and I am the present spokesman of the European Federation for Freedom of Belief (FOB) that I represent today as I did last year.

FOB is a secular and independent-by-any-faith association incorporated in Italy and registered as a lobbying group in Bruxelles and Strasbourg since December 2014.

We advocate for the human rights and specifically for the freedom of belief of all people in the European continent, whether they belong to traditional or new religious groups, philosophical or spiritual schools of thought and even non-believers, atheists and unconcerned in line with the European legislations.

Today I will briefly address three main points:

- SAS Squadra Anti Sette or Anti Cult Squad;
- So called Anti Mosque or Anti Minority Religions Law in Lombardy and other regions;
- State funded and subsidized NGOs;

Brief Analysis of the three topics:

1. SAS Squadra Anti Sette or Anti Cult Squad

Last year we asked the Italian Government to provide clear facts and figures about this unit of the Italian Police.

The Government replied straightaway that SAS does exist to protect people from Satanic cults.

Few days later all information about SAS has been removed from the Ministry of Interiors website, then we now think SAS is working in an even more informal and less official way.

Many times the SAS has only acted against some minority groups and no report is available at all.

We renew our request to the Government to provide clear information about the activities carried out by SAS and about the cost-benefit ratio.

2. So called Anti Mosque or Anti Minority Religions Law in Lombardy and other regions

Last year we reported about the anti-mosque bill passed in Lombardy and adopted in other regions at a later time.

Such legislation is aimed at preventing the Muslim communities to have any worship places or to build new ones. The legislation does affect in fact all minority groups not only the Muslim community.

FOB has launched an online petition that has been very successful and it has been brought to the Parliament. Few days later the Government has challenged such legislation filing an appeal with the Constitutional Court and we are waiting to know the outcomes.

In the meantime the same legislation has either been proposed or adopted by other regional authorities.

FOB will keep advocating for the deletion of all of these anti-minority legislations.

3. State funded and subsidized anti-cult NGOs

There are a number of so called anti-cult NGOs that receive funds and subsidies by governments. The most notorious one is the French FECRIS which, as far as we know, receives 90% of its annual funds by the French government that is particularly known for the anti-religious legislations adopted over the last decades.

Such groups are de facto government bodies, not NGOs at all, and for this should be revoked such status at level of International organizations where they present themselves as NGOs and advocate and act against minority groups and against proper NGOs.

In the months to come FOB will make the voice of minority groups louder also in this regard.

FOB in fact does exist to make the content of the FORB (Freedom of Religion and Belief) Guidelines adopted by the EU Council alive and implemented and enforced across Europe.

Following the FORB Guidelines is the only route to positively achieve peace among the European populations.

Three of the main goals and working strategies set out in the FORB Guidelines are:

Firstly to eradicate the harsh violence with which groups that self-identify themselves as religious as well as States and State bodies and NGOs, carry out activities against religious or spiritual groups whether they are minority groups or not and individuals belonging to such groups.

Secondly Freedom of Religion and Belief has to be guaranteed to all people whether religious or non-religious, even atheists and unconcerned. Also the European Court of Human Rights has emphasized this point repeatedly.

FOB's action is in this direction.

Third principle is that the governments, state the FORB Guidelines, do cooperate with the civil society.

As a lobbying group FOB is here for this reason.

We cooperate with State bodies and MPs at national and European level in order for these FORB Guidelines be fully implemented all over Europe guaranteeing equal rights to all people.

Today once again we invite the Italian and all other governments to respect the human rights of all minority groups, whether religious or not, and the individuals belonging to such groups in compliance with their International obligations as member of International Organizations.

Thank you!
