

KAZAKHSTAN

Most prisoners are Sunni Muslims who are Tabligh Jamaat followers. This movement has been banned in Kazakhstan since 2013 although it does not use or advocate violence. It does not call for the overthrow of the political regime in Kazakhstan either.

As of 25 May 2018, according to Forum18, 65 alleged Tabligh Jamaat adherents (all of them Kazakh citizens) were known to have been given criminal convictions since the beginning of 2015 for the exercise of their freedom of religion or belief. Of these, 51 were given prison terms while 14 were given restricted freedom sentences.

Other Muslims sentenced to prison terms are said to be Salafists or Wahhabis. It must be noted that their teachings are in egregious contention with Article 5 of the ICCPR which reads as follows:

Nothing in the present Covenant may be interpreted as implying for any State, group or person any right to engage in any activity or perform any act aimed at the destruction of any of the rights and freedoms recognized herein or at their limitation to a greater extent than is provided for in the present Covenant.

Salafists and Wahhabis promote an “Untermensch” worldview in which Muslims are superior to and have more rights than non-Muslims. They promote segregation between men and women leading to gender inequality. They promote judicial practices which blatantly contradict Article 7 of the ICCPR: “No one shall be subjected to torture or to cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment.”

Sentencing ‘controversial’ imams and preachers to prison terms because they promote such an ideology is however a violation of human rights and imprisoning them is not a solution to the security issue that they may pose. Although it is the right of a state to protect its population against radicalization and foreign ideologies that promote degrading and inhumane treatments, its policies must remain in line with international human rights standards. It is their ideology that must be combated.

Only one Jehovah’s Witness was still in prison in 2018. He was released in April.

Jehovah’s Witness

Teymur AKHMEDOV

Date of birth: 7th May 1956

Date and place of arrest: On 18th January 2017 by the National Security Committee.

Charges: Inciting religious discord and advocating religious superiority

Statement of the defendant: He denies the charges and said they were fabricated. During May and June 2016, seven men invited Teymur to a rented apartment, claiming to be interested in the beliefs of Jehovah's Witnesses. They also met at Teymur's home later in the year. Unbeknownst to Teymur, these seven "Bible students" covertly video recorded their conversations.

Article of the criminal/civil/administrative code: Criminal Code Article 174, Part 2 (Incitement of social, national, clan, racial, or religious discord by repeat offenders with prison terms of between five and ten years)

First court decision: On 20th January 2017, he was sentenced to sixty days in pre-trial detention, as suggested by a KNB investigator, by Judge A.I. Isayeva of Astana's Saryarka District Court No. 2.

Second court decision: On 30th January 2017, his appeal against the pre-trial detention was rejected by Judge Eleonora Ungarsynova of the Judicial Chamber for Criminal Cases of the Astana City Court.

Third court decision: On 2nd May 2017, he was sentenced to five years' imprisonment in a general regime labour camp by Astana City Court. The Judge also banned him from conducting "ideological/preaching activity in the area of religion" for three years after the end of his sentence. He lodged an appeal on 31st May 2017.

Last court decision: On 20th June 2017, his appeal was rejected by Astana City Court. An appeal was lodged to the Supreme Court on 13th October 2017. On 4th December 2017 the Supreme Court ruled to reject to forward Mr Akhmedov's case for the cassation reconsideration. It therefore refused to implement the decision of the Working Group on Arbitrary Detention (WGAD) which called for Mr Akhmedov's immediate release.

A complaint regarding Mr Teymur Akhmedov was filed with the UN Human Rights Committee on 3rd January 2018.

Place of detention: 140000 g. Pavlodar

Rustam MUSAYEV

Date of birth: 17th April 1985

Date and place of arrest: On 4th April 2016

Charges: Inciting religious hatred, talking to others about his Islamic faith during meetings

Statement of the defendant: He insisted to the Judge that he had done nothing wrong and he was a normal Muslim who tries to observe all the rules prescribed in Islam.

Article of the criminal/civil/administrative code: Criminal Code Article 174, Part 1 (Incitement of social, national, clan, racial, or religious hatred or antagonism with a prison term of two to seven years)

Last court decision: On 1st June 2016, he was sentenced to two years' imprisonment in a general regime labour camp.

Place of detention: He was transferred from the LA-155/18 Investigation Prison to a labour camp in East Kazakhstan Region.

Other information: He was added to the Finance Ministry Financial Monitoring Committee List of individuals "connected with the financing of terrorism or extremism". He was convicted even though an "expert analysis" commissioned by the KNB did not find any incitement in the recorded conversations.
