Fundamental Rights of Religious and Spiritual Minorities in the European Union

In today's diverse and interconnected Europe, the fundamental rights of religious and spiritual minorities are not only a matter of moral imperative but a cornerstone of democratic society. To address this critical issue, MEP Maxette Pirbakas is proud to host an important conference at the European Parliament, focusing on "Living Together in Peace".

As the EU grapples with evolving social dynamics and increasing diversity, it is imperative to explore solutions to protect and promote the rights of religious and spiritual minorities. This conference aims to be a catalyst for policy changes, fostering a sense of belonging and security for all citizens, irrespective of their faith, and contributing to the advancement of a truly inclusive Europe.
